

Smart+working Summit

Staged three times a year at the Royal Society of Arts, London, Quora's award-winning Summits explore relevant and important topics that impact us all in our working lives. CEOs, Industry Experts and Thought-leaders take to the stage to speak openly and from personal experience about their approach to the turbulent challenges within the corporate business world.

Burning2Learn's Media Team will be attending Quora's final summit of 2015 to bring key messages and mindsets put forward by 21st century business leaders back into the classroom. Speakers include representatives from:

Diageo, Unilever, Rolls-Royce,
Ashurst LLP, Channel 4 and AXA

Unplugged responses to challenges affecting organisations today
Exploring shifting mindsets of business leaders

October 14

The Royal Society of Arts, London
WC2N 6EZ: 8:30am - 12:30pm

Join the Burning2Learn Media Team as we report on the summit and interview speakers and participants about what they expect to see from the next generation of entrepreneurs and employees.

01322 614000
schools@burning2learn.co.uk
www.burning2learn.co.uk